Purpose : The IIIAE is an international society comprising the Japanese Society for Non-Destructive Inspection, AEWG (USA), and EWGAE (Europe). This conference aims to summarize the current status and latest advancements in AE technology while discussing future prospects. We will invite leading experts from the automotive and aerospace industries to deliver lectures and foster discussions that extend beyond AE, integrating diverse fields. Topics will include social issues and quality evaluation of civil engineering and building structures using 3D printing. To achieve this, we welcome presentations on non-destructive testing technologies across various fields, including mechanical, aerospace, civil engineering, architecture, medical, biological, and information processing—beyond AE technologies alone. We look forward to your participation.
